

PRIVACY POLICY

Thank you for visiting HipaaRelease (the "Site") and reviewing our Privacy Policy. Your privacy is important to us, and our policy is simple: we will collect no personally identifiable information about you when you visit the Site unless you choose to provide that information. This Privacy Policy does not describe information collection practices on other sites, including those linked to or from the Site.

This statement discloses the privacy practices for the HipaaRelease Site. HipaaRelease LLC is a Minnesota Limited Liability Company. If you have questions regarding this statement, please contact HipaaRelease by email at: support@HipaaRelease.com.

HipaaRelease recognizes that its customers may have legitimate concerns about privacy. This privacy policy sets forth our practices regarding the collection and use of personally identifiable information as well as the choices we offer regarding the use of this information. Personal identifiable information is information that personally identifies you, which includes but is not limited to your name, street address, email address, age, sex, or credit card information.

This policy addresses only the activities that originate from our servers. Other sites (including those that we may link to) may have their own policies. We have no control over the activities of others and those activities are not addressed by this policy.

POLICY

You provide certain personally identifiable information to us when you access and use the site, register an account, complete a form, request access to a Member's profile, purchase services through HipaaRelease, or otherwise willingly disclose information to us (such as in an email to, or phone call with, one of our employees). At other points on our site, we may collect additional personal information from you.

The server on which the Site is located collects and saves only the default information customarily logged by web server software. Such information may include but is not limited to the date and time of your visit, the originating IP address, and the pages and images requested.

The Site is not directed to children under eighteen (18) years of age, and children under such age must not use the Site or services offered on it to submit any individually identifiable information about themselves.

We use a feature of browsers called a "cookie" to assign a Customer ID that automatically identifies your computer when you visit our site. This allows us to maintain the continuity of each customer session. We use personal information to (a) provide access to your account; (b) verify your identity; (c) anticipate and resolve problems with our service; (d) personalize your service; (e) collect payment for services sold to you; and (f) to develop and market products and services that may be of interest to you.

It is our policy not to sell, trade, rent or share your personally identifiable information with any third parties. We will not release your personally identifiable information to government authorities unless required by law.